Benefit is a family affair for Sarah Silverman

Sarah Silverman is returning to her native New Hampshire this summer. The tart-tongued comedian announced yesterday that she and her significant other, Jimmy Kimmel, will play a benefit in Manchester July 9. The show, which will include Silverman's sister Laura and writer/actor Chris Romano, will benefit the Theatre in the Park program presented annually by New Thalian Players. Tix are on sale at the Palace Theatre box office.
